HAPPY NEW YEAR

We would like to wish all our guests a happy, prosperous and healthy new year. This was supposed to be a Christmas newsletter but we both fell victims to the flu virus in December. It took several weeks to make a full recovery and spoilt our plans for a short break after Christmas.

2022 was a hectic year for us! The gîte was fully booked from April right through into October. The gîte is of course open all year round and also available as Chambres d'hôtes during the non-summer months.

WINTER IN SIGOULÈS

Most of our guests see Sigoulès in the summer, but we do love life here in the winter too (though yesterday's snow was a bit of a shock). There is life here in the off-season and markets and shops continue all year as do cultural activities and wine tastings. On our website I have uploaded the Eymet cultural programme, which features music, dance and theatre events in the region during winter and spring.

CHRISTMAS

It was great to spend Christmas with Sue's daughters, Sarah and Hannah, who came over from England. Because of Covid, this was the first Christmas we have spent together for three years, so it was a bit more special.

It was great to celebrate with family and though we probably ate and drank too much, we had a lovely time. Even Hifi got into the spirit with his new outfit!

Once again we wish you a great 2023 and we look forward to welcoming both new and returning guests.
